

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am a Junior Software Developer who is excited to create things and solve problems. I create UIs that are intuitive and powerful for clients using REACT.js. I use several different back-end storage or database options such MongoDB or Firebase, dependent on need and information type. My current project is refactoring an app for an educational consulting company. With a MERN stack I am making this traditionally installed software application web-based while also improving the look and feel. I'm finding it to be a nice learning curve and very rewarding.

If given the opportunity you will find that I'm an energetic person that has a positive impact on the team's performance as well as general culture and wellbeing.

Kind regards,

Michael Samara

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/michael-samara-95483584/>

737-701-0185